

Norway and the Holocaust

Irene Levin Berman, Child Holocaust Survivor

"We Are Going to Pick Potatoes", Norway and the Holocaust, The Untold Story

*Holocaust Darkness
Survival Remembrance*

*"This 'untold story' about what happened to the Norwegian Jews during the Holocaust deserves to be told—and now it is."
Elie Wiesel
Nobel Laureate*

While examining the label of being a child survivor, Irene's narrative became not only a story of the Holocaust, but also the remembrance of growing up Jewish in Norway. Together with the richness of both a Norwegian and Jewish culture, she acquired yet another identity as an American.

Norway Wasn't Too Small: A Fact-Based Novel about Darkness and Survival

*"Berman impressed me with a story that reads like an action-packed drama, animating the history she so carefully documented in her earlier nonfiction work."
Sandy Brehl, Author*

This novel is created for adults and young readers alike. It combines a thrilling story with the underlying principle that we must never forget the real stories of millions of people who failed to escape the darkness; they remain in our memories forever.

by Irene Levin Berman
irenelberman@aol.com
www.norwayandtheholocaust.com

Irene Levin Berman, a native Norwegian, has lived in the United States most of her life. A professional translator of Scandinavian languages, she has co-translated several plays by Henrik Ibsen. For organized group talks, contact Irene at irenelberman@aol.com. For additional information her website is www.norwayandtheholocaust.com.

Books available at Barnes & Noble and Amazon.com

Hamilton Books
An Imprint of Rowman & Littlefield www.rowman.com